Story name-Sharing and caring

Once upon a time there was a child. His name is Raju. He is very selfish. He is never shared his toys with any one..and also he never cared about others. His parents were worried about how to teach him about sharing and caring and all... Then one day Raju was returning from school on his new bicycle.suddenly Raju was watching a boy fell in to a bitch. The boy cried ver loudly " oh I can't move please help me anyone". Raju would never help anyone but that day one miracle Raju felt sad for the boy.so he helped him and also Raju said "looks like you have fractured your hand.sit behind me and I will ride to you the hospital. Later,in the evening, the boys parents visited Raju's home and thanked him,"you are very kind boy.god will always bless you."Raju is very happy. After they had left Raju's father said "son,see the blessings you receive by being Sharing and caring." Raju understood the value of sharing and caring by his own experience ..He is very happy. And his father and mother also happy..

Moral of the story- Be share and care to others facing any difficult situations..

Thank you...😊
